

During this time, quality sleep is more important than ever to maintain a strong immune system!

Research supports that sleep improves your overall health & wellness... an area where we can help you:

- Strengthen your immune system
- Minimize stress and anxiety
- Decrease your potential of catching COVID-19

Most people are spending extra time at home these days. Why not use that time to have your sleep evaluated in the privacy of your own home? With today's technology, we've expanded our practice to include telemedicine consults, home sleep testing, and more!

We've teamed up with a national sleep physician and home sleep testing team who can screen you for sleep and airway concerns via telemedicine and send you a home sleep test directly to your doorstep without ever having to leave your home.

Quality sleep is one of the most important factors to a healthy body and mind. Don't miss out on this opportunity!

Would you like to connect with us and talk about your sleep? We'd love to help.

Here's how we can connect:

- Just reply to this email & we'll connect with you ASAP.
- Contact us on our website www.ColumbusCosmeticDental.com & we'll connect with you ASAP.

- Leave a voicemail at (614) 848-5001 & we'll connect with you ASAP.

The next step would be for us to connect on a 15-20 minute telemedicine consultation and we'll walk you through the rest.

We are in this together. We look forward to hearing from you and helping you in these challenging times.

Be healthy, be strong, and get a good night's sleep!

Sincerely,

Dr. F Michael Firouzian, DDS, FAGD
